persist to a considerable extent. In that respect Chinese would find themselves in the good company of sections of the people of France and sections of the people of Portugal. But it is safe to say that though China has, as it were, only just embraced the principles of republicanism and has not yet properly assimilated these principles, there is distinctly less likelihood of a reversion to monarchy in this great land than there was in France or Portugal at the same period of their republican history. The characteristic apathy which leads the masses of this country to accept existing conditions as a matter of course and which led them passively to acquiesce in the establishment of a republic proves that there is no ardent sentiment of loyalty to the deposed monarch or any other possible monarch dominating the people, and as the educated men of to-day are largely in favour of the new régime, in spite of whatever personal jealousies they may cherish, the possibilities of a return to the monarchical form of government are therefore very remote. China, indeed, was never more united than it is to-day under the provisional republican government with YUAN SHIH KAI as its President. The old-time jealousies, differences and prejudices which tended to keep separate the people of the different provinces still exist, but they have been worn down almost to extinction under the unifying influences at work prior to and during the revolution. Reformers hailed from every province. Heroes were not the monopoly of any province, and as the men in different parts of the Empire worked for a common cause, they have achieved a greater success than the more sanguine could have anticipated, and a national conception has been formed which should, in course of time, mould the heterogeneous peoples into a nation imbued with the common aim and love of the fatherland that are the characteristics of the other great countries of the world. This unity, with all its hopes for the future, is demonstrated by existing conditions. YUAN SHIH KAI is a Northerner. Yet he has the sympathy and support of the men from the South. Who are the chief men of his Government? They are nimble-witted and clever men from the Southern provinces. This combination of North and South—for YUAN SHIH KAI carries Northern opinion with him—is the best guarantee for the maintenance of peace and the solidarity of the Chinese people under the rainbow banner of the republic. It is easy to exaggerate the importance of provincial republican jealousies, but we believe that once the necessary foreign loan has been obtained and the republic recognised, China may be expected to surprise the world still more than she did at the revolution by the capable manner in which she proceeds to the task of setting her house in order—a big undertaking, and one fraught with innumerable difficulties—an undertaking which should not be beyond the capacities of the men who brought the republic into being and who have steered the ship of State through stormy waters with undeniable success.

The Daily Press.

HONGKONG, MAY 31st, 1912.

There seems little in the situation in China at the present moment to support the pessimistic prophecy that China as now constituted cannot exist, and that the outcome of popular dissatisfaction will be that a kingdom will be formed in North China, while the South will adhere to the republican principles already adopted. This prophecy is based on certain tendencies which are declared to be apparent to the most casual observer. It is alleged that the old-time jealousy and differences between the North and the South will not only persist but deepen. We are told that the North yearns for a king in the person of a descendant of the Ming monarchs or in the person of the descendant of CONFUCIUS. Some go so far as to declare that YUAN SHIH KAI himself is anxious to secure the purple. These are no new notions. It must be admitted that there is a royalist sentiment in China, but that is not surprising. The same thing is found in such an old established republic as France. In the much younger republic of Portugal the deposed House of Braganza has many adherents whose activities are a real source of anxiety to the Republican authorities. Yet no one seriously imagines that the France of to-day is ready to receive a monarch of its own, nor does anyone believe that the Iberian Republic is any less stable now that it was in the days of its inauguration, though, of course, one can never say what changes the future will bring forth there. As the Chinese have been ruled by kings and emperors for centuries, it need occasion little surprise if the feeling of veneration for the Throne should

Several dead bodies were picked up in different parts of the Colony yesterday.

Six months' hard labour was the sentence imposed on two Chinese at the Magistracy yesterday, for returning from banishment.

A Chinese was yesterday admitted to the Tung Wah Hospital suffering from severe bruises, caused by his being knocked down by an earth truck.

A Chinese was yesterday taken to the Civil Hospital suffering from a stab in the groin, inflicted by a countryman. The stabbing occurred in Sanpan Street.

The Senate of the University of Cambridge has conferred the degree of Master of Arts on Mr. H. L. O. Garrett, a master at Queen's College (now on leave).

A Chinese boy informed the police yesterday that while walking in Chinese territory he was attacked by a number of men. He was shot in the back, though not seriously, and robbed of $50.

At the Magistracy yesterday, before Mr. E. A. Irving, a woman was charged with being in unlawful possession of and attempting to sell a quantity of opium. On the first charge she was fined $30, and on the second $20 or two months.

Twenty-five Chinese were charged at the Magistracy yesterday with keeping a house in Cross Street, Wanchai, as an opium divan. One of the men was charged with being the keeper. Sergeant Gerrard, who prosecuted, said the keeper was a former opium divan keeper, and when the Ordinance abolishing divans came into operation he was compensated by the Government. He was told to discontinue keeping a divan, but had not obeyed the order. A fine of $250 or three months' imprisonment was imposed, and the smokers were each fined $2.

While on the way to the Tung Wah Hospital yesterday, a Chinese suddenly expired.

The hearing of the charges of intimidation against four Chinese revenue officers was concluded at the Magistracy yesterday, the defendants being discharged.

There is great activity at the Taikoo Dockyard in meeting the demand for lifeboats for steamers trading here. At present some fifty are under construction.

Yesterday was Decoration Day, the day on which Americans give special thought to the heroes who died in the military service of their country. The bluejackets from the Wilmington visited the cemetery at Happy Valley and placed wreaths upon the graves of American soldiers and sailors buried there, while the warships in the harbour fired minute guns at noon.

ALLEGED OPIUM DEFICIENCY.

The case in which two partners in a firm of Chinese opium dealers were charged, on remand, with being deficient in a quantity of opium, and with having given false particulars when applying for the removal of the opium in question, was resumed at the Magistracy yesterday, before Mr. Irving. Mr. P. M. Hodgson, Assistant Crown Solicitor, appeared to prosecute, and Mr. Eldon Potter, instructed by Mr. Crew, of Messrs. Hastings and Hastings, for the defendants, only one of whom was present.

Inspector Wildon, recalled, said the tins in the box produced were those seized on the premises of the defendant, but they did not look like the tins which were originally in the box. The tins in the other cases were different kinds of opium. So far as he knew, packing was not used in order to keep the tins secure in the boxes.

Mr. Potter, addressing the bench, said the defendants were charged under section 87 that they gave false particulars, and that those false particulars were that when they applied for the removal of six chests of opium, it was found that two of the chests contained cod instead of opium. He submitted that section 87 did not contemplate any such case as the present, which was clearly covered by other sections of the Ordinance. The section in question really contemplated the act of a man who applied for opium, knowing there was a shortage. Under section 87, in order to convict either of the defendants, the Crown must prove a guilty knowledge of the false particulars. A foki who filled in particulars, knowing they were false, would be liable, although he was only a foki, and did not sign the particulars. It was impossible for the Crown to prove guilty knowledge in regard to Chang Wing, one of the defendants, because he was admittedly out of the Colony at the time the false particulars were given. It could also be proved that Chang Wing did not give the false particulars. Knowing, before he left, that dealings in opium would take place, he filled in a number of blank forms, without giving the particulars. On March 21st they applied for a permit to remove four chests of opium, in consequence of a request for delivery from the man who had already bought them as far back as January of this year. The whole facts of the case, Mr. Potter said, showed that the defendants acted bona-fide throughout, because they sold the opium and asked for permission to remove it, knowing that if they did not the purchaser would demand delivery of it.

The case was remanded.

CORRESPONDENCE

THE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH AND CELIBACY.

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONGKONG DAILY PRESS."]

HONGKONG, May 29th.
DEAR SIR,—May I point out an inaccuracy in the article "The Portuguese Clergy" published in your issue of yesterday? You state that The Times correspondent at Lisbon said that the celibacy of the Roman Catholic clergy is a fundamental principle of their church. For all I know it is not even a Catholic discipline, but simply a Latin discipline. Even to-day the Roman Catholic clergy in the Orient marry with the full approbation of the Holy See. It is true that such marriages must precede ordination, and not follow it, but this restriction, besides being inconvenient, is without value in the eyes of sound reason and contradicts the principle that in the judgment of the Roman Church there is no real incompatibility between the two sacraments of holy orders and matrimony.—Yours, etc.,

TRANSPORT WORKERS' STRIKE.

LONDON, May 30th.

Mr. Sydney Buxton, President of the Board of Trade, and the strikers had a conference at the Board of Trade Office, at which they discussed the preliminaries for Friday's conference. The men desired an assurance that every section of the employers would be represented and that any agreement would bind all transport employers.

A mass meeting attended by 15,000 was held at Tower Hill. Mr. Gosling, in addressing the meeting, said that Sir Edward Clarke decided that they were not entitled to refuse to work with a non-unionist, but this was what they were going to do. The carmen, who were the worst paid class in the community, were asking the Government for a minimum wage. They demanded a final settlement with machinery for adjusting future difficulties.

Some hundreds of non-unionists are unloading meat at the docks and conveying it to Smithfield. They have not been molested.

LATER.

The Shipowners' Federation have written to Mr. Buxton declining to attend to-morrow's conference, and declaring that they have loyally acted up to the agreement of last August, which the men have broken by the present strike.

The feeling at Covent Garden is more cheerful, and business is expected soon to be working smoothly.

Huge consignments of meat reached Smithfield yesterday from the docks and from Southampton, hundreds of tons in excess of the corresponding day last year. The prices of meat fell.

THE DEFENCE CONFERENCE.

LONDON, May 30th.

Reuter's correspondent at Malta telegraphs that Lord Kitchener arrived. Mr. Asquith and Mr. Churchill arrived later.

LATER.

Reuter is informed that the reports attributing an international political character to the meeting between Lord Kitchener and Mr. Asquith and Mr. Churchill are wholly unfounded. It is known that Lord Kitchener is taking advantage of the Ministers' presence near Egypt to express to them his views on the situation in the Mediterranean, but greatly exaggerated inferences are drawn therefrom.

Reuter's correspondent at Malta telegraphs that Lord Kitchener, contrary to his original intention, will not visit Gibraltar. He is returning to Egypt on board the s.s. Hampshire, probably on June 2nd.

The Times in a special article points out that the British naval changes in the Mediterranean do not constitute an abandonment of the Mediterranean now or in the future, and prints extracts from Mr. Churchill's speeches of the 18th March and 15th May, remarking that in view of these it is difficult to understand how the idea that we are about to entrust our interests in the Mediterranean to anything but the British fleet can have obtained credence.

AMERICAN PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

LONDON, May 30th.

Mr. Roosevelt has had the most sweeping victory of the campaign at New Jersey, where the returns indicate that he has won all the 28 Republican delegates.

THE MALECKA CASE.

LONDON, May 30th.

Reuter learns that it is now officially known that Miss Malecka's sentence does not involve being sent to Siberia.

NAVAL APPOINTMENT.

LONDON, May 30th.

The King has approved of the appointment of Admiral Roe as his first naval A.D.C. in succession to Admiral Beaumont.

THE FRENCH IN MOROCCO.

SERIOUS SITUATION.

LONDON, May 30th.

The rumours yesterday regarding a wholesale massacre of Europeans at Fez are dispelled by a message from General Lyautey stating that on Monday following the night attack the Berbers returned to the walls of Fez and kept up an incessant firing, rendering it impossible to leave the town or mount the ramparts, but no attack was actually made on the town.

LATER.

The Times Tangier correspondent telegraphs that 20,000 rebels are besieging Fez, and that the French garrison, numbering 6,000, is in a grave position.

THE ANGLO-FRENCH ENTENTE.

LONDON, May 30th.

The Times editorial on the recent discussions on the Anglo-French relations have had an excellent result in showing the strength of the cordiality and mutual regard of the nations. This very fact is a reason against the transformation into a formal alliance of the entente which has already been tested in an actual crisis and proved equal to the strain. The situation is certainly not one for pessimism. With the facts of the European and Imperial situation before them the discussions of the Ministers and Lord Kitchener at Malta is not likely to take a despondent turn.

THE KING AT CHELSEA HOSPITAL.

LONDON, May 30th.

H.M. the King, inspected the Chelsea Pensioners yesterday. This is the first review of this body by a reigning sovereign since 1805.

The King visited the Hospital, but Sir George White, the Governor, was too ill to receive His Majesty.

NEW P. & O. STEAMERS.

LONDON, May 30th.

The P. and O. Line have ordered two steamers of the Ballarat class for their Australian service via the Cape.

GENERAL BOOTH.

LONDON, May 30th.

The inflammation in General Booth's eye has spread and seriously jeopardises the sight. His general condition is good.

HOME CRICKET.

LONDON, May 30th.

Somerset beat Gloucester by three wickets at Taunton.

In the match between Worcestershire and Warwickshire, played at Worcester, the latter won by 180 runs.

Leicestershire lost to Northants at Northampton by nine wickets.

The Hants v. Kent match at Southampton ended in a draw.

Essex won by an innings and 27 runs from Middlesex at Leyton.

Notts beat Surrey at Nottingham by nine wickets.

WIRELESS IN THE DUTCH EAST INDIES.

There are at present four Government wireless stations in the Dutch East Indies. The most powerful one is at Sabang, a coaling station and a port of call for the Dutch mail steamers at the northern extremity of Sumatra. This station has a range of 1,000 miles, which brings it within reach of Colombo on the one hand, and Singapore on the other. The other three are at Sitobondo (Eastern Java), Balikpapan (Borneo), and Timor Keapang (the capital at Dutch Timor); while a fifth station is in course of erection at Amboina, in the Molucca Islands. All these establishments have a range of 500 miles, and are inter-connecting; but, as far as Australia is concerned, not one of the stations will be powerful enough to communicate with the proposed one at Thursday Island, the distance from Amboina, the nearest Dutch Station, being quite 1,000 miles. Should it, however, be decided to erect wireless at Port Darwin, then communication could easily be effected with Timor Keapang, which is only about 300 miles distant. Several of the numerous Island steamers of the Royal Packet Steam Navigation Company are now fitted with the wireless installation, the value of which, especially in the outlying parts of the Archipelago, can hardly be over-estimated. The two new steamers, which the same company is now building for its Java-Australian line, and which are to be delivered at the end of this year, will also carry wireless. The system adopted by the Royal Packet Steam Navigation Company is Marconi, although the Dutch Government stations are on the Telefunken system.

THE NEW COMMODORE AT HONGKONG.

The Naval and Military Record gives the following particulars of the career of Capt. Robert Hamilton Anstruther, C.M.G., who has been appointed Commodore Second Class and Naval Officer in Charge at Hongkong in succession to Capt. Byres, who will be fifty in June next:—As a midshipman he served on the Mediterranean Station in the Téméraire, January, 1878, and the Superb, March, 1881, and as a sub-lieutenant in the Champion, on the China Station, September, 1883. He was promoted to Lieutenant in June, 1885, and served in the Phaeton, on particular service and in the Mediterranean, from April, 1886, to July, 1893.—He collaborated with Capt. Setenbrini, of the Royal Italian Navy, in the production of an Italian-English nautical phrase book in 1893. In October of that year he was appointed to the Active, flying the broad pennant of Commodore R. H. Harris, commanding the Training Squadron. He was then first Lieutenant successively of the Ruby, April, 1894, and of the Champion, October, 1895, both in the Training Squadron, and at the end of 1897 was advanced to commander. In this rank he served in the Diadem, in the Channel Squadron, July to October, 1898; the Edgar on particular service, February, 1900; in command of the Cockatrice, attached to the Mediterranean station for service on the Danube, January, 1901; and in command of the Hearty, engaged on fishery protection duties under the admiral commanding the squadron and reserves, July 1902. He was promoted captain in June, 1904, and after completing a war course and passing as an interpreter in German, October, 1905, was appointed to command the Nisius, in reserve at Devonport. In April, 1906, he was commissioned the Brilliant, for service on the North American and West Indies station, where he remained until March, 1908. He received the C.M.G., in June, 1907, for service on the Newfoundland fisheries. In 1908 he was studying at the Royal Naval War College again, and in October of that year was appointed to command the Ceres in the Home fleet at the Nore. Since then he has been in command of the battleship Cornwallis in the Mediterranean, August, 1910, to April, 1912.

THE OPIUM AGREEMENT.

In the House of Commons on May 29th Sir J. D. Rees (Nottingham, E. Opp.) asked the Under-Secretary for India what reasons the Government had for confidence that with the restoration of order in China the Chinese Government would be able speedily to secure compliance in the provinces with the reciprocal stipulations of the opium agreement; whether such compliance was founded on any, and if so, on what, official or other reports; whether the restoration of order in the provinces was yet in sight; and whether the loss of revenue and probable need for additional taxation are already threatening the Indian taxpayer. Mr. Montagu (Cambridge, Chesterton).—The restoration of order in China implies that the central Government would then be in a position to enforce its will in the provinces and secure the observance of international engagements. To uphold such engagements is the declared policy of the new Government. The Secretary of State cannot forecast the course of events in China, and can only deal with the existing situation. The Indian Government continues to realize for its opium prices considerably in excess of its estimates, and has provided for the expenditure of the present year without additional taxation.

BIG LINERS.

The advance in the character of the modern Atlantic liner is well illustrated by the following table, which summarises the progress of the past twenty-two years:

Ship	Built	Tonnage
Taonic	1890	9,084
Campania	1893	12,500
Kaiser (Wilhelm der)	1897	14,350
Gros	1898	17,274
Oceanic	1903	19,361
Kaiser Wilhelm II.	1906	13,750
La Provence	1907	19,400
Kronprinzessin Cecilie	1907	24,540
Mauretania	1907	31,038
Olympic	1911	45,000
Titanic	1912	46,000
La France	1912	25,000

We have a growth in the period named from the liner of less than 10,000 tons to the liner of 40,000 tons and in length from the vessel of 505 ft. to the vessel of 350 ft. Speed has gone up from twenty-one knots to twenty-six, and come down again in the "Olympic" and the "Titanic" to twenty-one or twenty-two. It looks as if, unless there is some great revolution in marine engineering, we are not likely to see the high speed of the "Mauretania" and the "Lusitania" emulated by other boats.

It is worth noting that during the score and more of years to which the table refers the steady advance indicated has been accompanied by no single catastrophe. This is surely the best answer to the suggestion that there is "mad competition" in speed, and that it is time to call a halt in the construction of big ships. The more rational view seems to be that the modern Atlantic liner has heretofore been exceptionally fortunate in its avoidance of ice-bergs, of the danger of collision with which we have now a truly awful lesson. There will naturally be a good deal of sympathy with the various suggestions which have been made with a view to the minimising of this risk, and if shipbuilders cannot give us an unsinkable ship, as seems very doubtful, it is just possible that they may see their way to offer additional protection against a contingency which obviously demands special consideration.

MACAO NOTES.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

THE PLAGUE HOSPITAL NURSING STAFF.
The plague hospital has been opened and a few cases have been received into it. When we see that the Canossian Sisters are giving their services as nurses at the hospital free, it must bring the blush of shame to the cheeks of those who treated these inoffensive ladies so cruelly in November, 1910. Nursing in a plague hospital is not attractive even when good pay is offered, and it is extremely fortunate that the Canossian Sisters have remained here to offer their services.

"CONSIGNEE LETTERS."

The Postmaster-General has been directing his attention to the "consignee letters" which the Macao steamers have been accustomed to carry. One day last week all such letters were confiscated by the Postmaster, and the steamers were fined $5. The action of the Postmaster caused considerable delay in the delivery of cargo. Now it seems that a postal official, armed with a cancelling chop, is to attend at the wharves daily on the arrival of the steamers from Hongkong for the purpose of cancelling the stamps on the covers. Surely if the Post Office undertakes to do this, they should also undertake the prompt delivery of the letters, and not throw back that responsibility on to the ship's commanders. This middleman interference with a long established custom causes great annoyance in trade circles.

THE NEW CHIEF JUSTICE.

It is stated that Sr. Americo de Souza has been appointed Chief Justice of the Colony, and is on his way out.

TE ACTING GOVERNOR.

Senor Miranda, who will act as Governor during the absence on leave of Sr. Machado, is expected in the middle of June.

INDEX TO THE REVISED EDITION OF THE COLONY'S LAWS.

The Chronological Table and Index to the Ordinances of the Colony from 1841 to 1911, compiled by Sir Francis Piggott, for Volume I and II of his revised edition of the Ordinances is now published. It will be readily understood that it is by no means an easy task to compile a full and satisfactory index to the whole range of the Colonial statutes, which cover a period of 67 years, but Sir Francis Piggott has done this very desirable work with a thoroughness and ability which will earn the gratitude not only of the legal profession but also of all laymen who may have occasion to refer to the Colonial law on any subject whatever. As an instance of the copiousness of the index we may mention that under the heading "Companies" four pages of references to provisions in the company law of the Colony are given. By the aid of this index one may readily turn to the law upon any particular point, without having to waste time searching so to speak, for the needle in the bundle of hay. The Table and Index make a volume of over 270 pages.

MEDICAL SERVICE ON SHIPS.

RECOGNISED FEES TO SUPERSEDE GRATUITIES.

It is satisfactory to note, says The Hospital, that there is every possibility that the ship surgeon is at last getting the justice of treatment which he has vainly asked for during the past century. Some of the great passenger-carrying lines have now adopted the principle of allowing the surgeon in charge of a ship to demand payment for his services from first-class passengers. When it is remembered that a large steamship carries hundreds of passengers, every one of whom has the right—or has hitherto had the right—of demanding free treatment and advice from the ship's doctor, it will easily be understood how revolutionary the new regime promises to be. In the past the ship's doctor has had to work his hardest on board those ships, although his rate of payment was no greater than that granted to surgeons staffing smaller boats where the service was much less onerous. The greater part of such work has been done gratuitously. Where a passenger belonging to the rare genus of the grateful patient so cordially appreciated the care and attention paid to him on the voyage as to testify his gratitude in a practical shape, that testimony has always been in the nature of a "tip," a form of remuneration common enough, as the butler in one of Mr. Shaw's plays remarks, but one which is particularly unsuitable for medical work. It is therefore not to be wondered that the impression has arisen that the ship's doctor, as a class, does inferior work as compared with his colleague, the private practitioner, on land. Nothing can be further from the truth than this supposition.

A fine of $500 was imposed on a Chinese at the Magistracy yesterday for being in possession of lottery tickets with the intention of selling them.

NOTE AND NEWS.

A BAPTISTAL CHANT.

A Wilkesdon curate, having discovered, after conducting many baptismal services, that babies invariably cry in major thirds or diminished sevenths, has set a Penitential Psalm to a chant-tune, the melody of which consists entirely of these intervals.

THE SUSPENDED PURSE AND THE BIG MUFF.
The Sunday Call suggests that the year 1912 will go down to history as the year of the suspended purse and the big muff. The muff, it seems, is the terror of the department store management and the purse is the confirmed sorrow of the shopper. For the first is the weapon of the shoplifter and the second is the prey of the pickpocket.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHTING OF DELHI.
The Indian Government have granted a concession for the utilisation of the Upper Jumna in the generation of electricity for lighting Delhi. The site of the proposed works is a strip of the river about twelve miles long some 180 miles above Delhi. The first installation is to be of 5,300 k.w., but this can ultimately be increased to 18,000 k.w. The transmission line will be 140 miles long and have a maximum height of 3,000 ft. above sea-level.

FRANCE AND THE TOTALISATOR.
In reply to the written question for M. Leroy-Beaulieu, Deputy of Montpellier, the Ministry of Finance has published the amounts of the State profits in connection with the tax on the totalisator and on games of chance. A 15 per cent. tax on games of chance from November 1st, 1910, to December 31st, 1911, realised £284,162 in the Mother Country and £4,920 in Algeria. A 1 per cent. deduction on the totalisators brought in £149,810 last year in France and £20 in Algeria. A further deduction on the totalisator receipts, which is devoted to charitable purposes, amounted to £299,608.

THE WAITER'S NAPKIN.
The British Medical Journal makes this statement regarding the napkin of the waiter:—"We have seen this soiled piece of napery used by a waiter—in the intervals of serving his customers—quite in artfully, whether it was to dust his trousers, or his boots, or even to wipe his perspiring forehead, and on more than one occasion to wipe his nose! A moment later he is perhaps rubbing the plate of a patron with this same napkin, which, when not being employed in any of the multifarious duties outlined above, is generally reposing in orthodox fashion in the armpit of a dusty and probably grimy evening coat."

A PARADOX AND ITS EXPLANATION.
A correspondent sends to the Glasgow Herald a paradoxical problem which he believes originally appeared in Plesse's "Chymical, Natural, and Physical Magic," published some 50 years ago. Two persons were born at the same place, at the same moment of time. Fifty years after, they both died, also at the same spot, and at the same instant; yet one had lived 100 days more than the other. The possible solution turns on a curious but very obvious point in circumnavigation. A person going round the world towards the west loses a day; going towards the east he gains one. Suppose, then, two persons born together at the Cape of Good Hope, whence a voyage round the world may be performed in a year. If one performs this constantly towards the west, in 50 years he will be 50 days behind the stationary inhabitants; and if the other sail equally towards the east, he will be 50 days in advance of them. One, therefore, will have seen 100 days more than the other.

A MARONIC SENSATION.
The declaration that the initiation into Freemasonry of Jack Johnson, the world's champion pugilist, is null and void has been followed by equally drastic action with regard to the initiating Lodge. The Lodge at which the famous pugilist was initiated was the Forfar and Kincardine Lodge of Dundee. The circumstances surrounding the initiation of Johnson were recently investigated by a committee, and, as a result of their report, and as a result of their recommendation, the Lodge was annulled the proceedings at the meeting at which Johnson was admitted. During the past week the Grand Committee has been sitting in Edinburgh to consider what disciplinary steps should be taken. The Master and three Past Masters of the Dundee Lodge, accompanied by a legal representative, appeared before the Grand Committee. The solicitor presented a statement in explanation and extenuation. The Grand Committee finally decided that the Lodge shall be suspended till November, 1915, that the Master be suspended for two years, and each of the three Past Masters for one year. This judgment will come before the Grand Lodge at Edinburgh for ratification. It may be recalled that Johnson's initiation in October last was the occasion of quite a demonstration. Johnson arrived early in the morning from Newcastle, and, as he was desirous of returning to fulfil a musical engagement the same night, the meeting of the Lodge, which had been summoned for noon, was accelerated by a couple of hours, intimation of the change being made by special messengers.

WHITE STAR LINE ORDERS COLLAPSIBLE BOATS.

The White Star Line have ordered the earliest possible despatch of a large number of the Danish inventor, Captain Engelhardt's, collapsible boats. These craft can carry from thirty to sixty persons, and are 25 ft. long by 9 ft. wide. They need only very small space, and can be drawn together like umbrellas. Captain Engelhardt's boats are known and recognised by the British naval authorities. Danish experts state that eighty of Engelhardt's boats could have been placed in various spots on the Titanic's gigantic decks without any inconvenience, and that this would mean lifeboat accommodation for more than 4,000 people.

STRIKES AND LOCK-OUTS.

RECORDS ESTABLISHED IN PAST YEAR.
DISPUTES OF TRANSPORT WORKERS.

According to the ninth report of proceedings under the Conciliation (Trade Disputes) Act, 1890, which has just been issued by the Board of Trade, the number of workpeople involved in disputes causing a stoppage of work in 1911 was the highest in any year since statistics of trade disputes have been recorded by the department. There were ninety-two cases in which action was taken under the Act, and fifty-seven of these involved stoppage of work, these numbers being considerably greater than in any previous year since the Act came into force. The following table shows the number of cases dealt with in each successive year:

Year.	Total	Involving stoppage of work.	Not involving stoppage of work.
1896	11	9	2
1897	37	23	14
1898	12	8	4
1899	11	5	6
1900	21	13	8
1901	33	20	13
1902	21	10	11
1903	17	8	9
1904	12	4	8
1905	14	3	11
1906	20	15	5
1907	29	15	14
1908	69	24	45
1909	57	24	33
1910	67	27	40

Total 524 258 266
Of the 92 cases dealt with last year, 13 arose in building trades, 10 in the metal, engineering, and shipbuilding trades, 4 in the mining and quarrying industries, 3 in the boot and shoe trade, 21 in transport trades, and 9 in textile trades. During the whole period since the Act came into operation the cases dealt with have been distributed among the various trades as follows:—Building trades, 46; metal, engineering, and shipbuilding trades, 90; mining and quarrying industries, 53; boot and shoe trade, 50; transport trades, 48; textile trades, 37; printing trades, 19; all other trades, 64. The fifty-seven cases which involved a stoppage of work last year effected in the aggregate nearly 555,000 workpeople.

The most important disputes in which action was taken by the department were the general strike of seamen, dockers, and other transport workers, which commenced in June, the strike of dockers and other transport workers in London in August, the national strike of railwaymen, also in August, and the lockout of cotton operatives in North and North-East Lancashire in December.

Transport trades constitute the industry in which the largest number of cases occurred during the year, twenty-one cases affecting workpeople employed in those trades being dealt with, as compared with three in the previous year and twenty-seven in the whole of the period 1890-1910. In eighteen of these cases a stoppage of work occurred estimated to have involved in the aggregate nearly 345,000 workpeople. The cases affected all branches of the transport trade and occurred in all parts of the country. In twelve of the cases the department took action on its own initiative, no application being received from the parties.

Among the nineteen disputes in the metal, engineering, and shipbuilding trades there were twelve which involved a stoppage of work affecting 10,000 people, and 190,000 workmen were affected by the strikes in the textile trade, the most important of which was the lockout of cotton operatives in North and North-East Lancashire in December.

With regard to the Industrial Council, which was established last autumn, with Sir George Askwith as chairman, the report reminds us that the Chief Industrial Commissioner's Department was at the same time established. Sir George Askwith being the Chief Commissioner, and that the existing Board of Trade powers of conciliation and arbitration were now exercised through this department. A committee of four members of the Industrial Council was appointed to act as the chairman, and this committee on a number of occasions last year met representatives of parties in dispute, and made proposals with a view to bringing about a settlement.

THE CHINESE LOAN.

A PROSPECT OF IMMENSE DANGERS.

The Pail Mall Gazette of the 3rd inst. says:—

Sir Edward Grey's statements yesterday on the subject of Chinese loans are hardly satisfactory. It is technically true that the loan negotiations entail no pecuniary liability upon the British Government. The actual fact is that they impose enormous liabilities upon the people of this country, who are not lucky to escape for a five per cent. profit. Sir Edward Grey says that our own and other Governments will require adequate guarantees for the useful expenditure of the loans, and security for the repayment of principal and interest. Once the banks have got their "rake-offs," it will really be nobody's business to see how the money is spent. When China fails to meet her liabilities, as assuredly she will if she contracts huge new loans, the foreign Governments will have to intervene. That opens up a prospect of immense dangers. We shall have done no good to China, we shall have imperilled our trade. It was a bad day for British interests in the Far East when the Foreign Office became a West End branch of financial syndicates.

CHINA'S FINANCIAL DEADLOCK.

DETAILS OF THE BELGIAN LOAN DIFFICULTY.

The Times correspondent at Peking sent to his journal a full statement regarding the financial deadlock in China. It was not, however, published in The Times until the 26th inst., and as it is the most ample and most lucid statement yet published on the subject, we have pleasure in reproducing it.

The deadlock between the Government and the Four Nations Banks (the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, the Banque de l'Indo-Chine, the Deutsche Asiatische Bank, and the American Group) continues, and China's financial needs become daily more pressing. As our readers no doubt know, the deadlock has been brought about by the action of China in signing on March 14 a loan contract with an Anglo-Belgian syndicate without reference to the Four Nations Banks, who claim that the loan was an infringement of rights previously accorded to them. They have accordingly presented through their Ministers a formal protest against the loan and pending settlement, have suspended negotiations. The loan contract to which they take exception is for £1,000,000, to be followed subsequently by a still larger loan, amounting in all to £10,000,000, and it is, as regards the earlier amount, secured upon the income and property of the Peking-Kalgan Railway. It was signed by the President himself, and is in English, the foreign signatories being the Agent of the Banque Sino-Belge and the English representative of the Eastern Banking Corporation.

On March 23 the four Ministers concerned together waited upon the President, and handed him an aide-memoire reciting their reasons for supporting the Banks in protesting against the injustice that had been done them. It is much to be regretted that one of the first acts done by the President since his inauguration should have involved a protest from four of the chief Powers. No blame, however, is attached to the President. Responsibility for the transaction lies with the Prime Minister, Mr. Tang Shao-yi. All the documents referred to in the memorandum were written in English, and the President does not know English. In affixing his signature he was acting on the advice of his Prime Minister, who is a finished English scholar. In the lengthy document submitted by the four Ministers the case of the Four Banks is lucidly and cogently stated. No charge of bad faith is brought, but it is clearly shown that a blunder has been committed which ought to be rectified.

NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE FOUR BANKS.
Until Yuan Shih-kai's election as President was confirmed, on February 15, by the Assembly in Nanking, there were two Governments in China, and strict neutrality required that no foreign financial assistance should be given to either Government. After February 15th there was no longer need to enforce this restriction, and accordingly the President then lost no time in seeking from the Four Nations Banks the financial help which his country, disorganized by the revolution, so urgently needed during its period of reorganization.

Mr. Chou Tzu-chi, Acting Minister of Finance, an official who enjoys equal esteem among Chinese and foreigners, opened the negotiations on behalf of China. In conference with the Four Banks he stated that during the period of reorganization 6,400,000 taels per month would be required, and that an additional 7,000,000 taels were urgently needed for the use of the authorities at Nanking. On February 26 Mr. Tang Shao-yi arrived in Peking and took charge of the negotiations. On February 27 he notified the Banks that 2,000,000 taels were required immediately and urgently for Nanking, and for the month of March Nanking would require an additional 5,000,000 taels. For the same month Peking would require 3,000,000 taels, making in all 10,000,000 taels. Further, that the Government would require loans or advances of 6,400,000 taels for each of the months up to and including August, one half the amount to be used in Peking and the other half down South. Mr. Tang Shao-yi further said that by July the Government would be ready to negotiate a comprehensive loan of 250,000,000 taels, the advances which he solicited being defrayed out of its proceeds. Sterling Treasury Bills were to be issued, to be secured as a secondary charge upon the Salt Gabelle. Pursuant to his request the Banks on Friday, February 28th, paid the 2,000,000 taels to the Nanking authorities.

On February 29th mutiny broke out in Peking, the riot continuing until the evening of Saturday, March 2nd. Reports of the disturbances telegraphed throughout the world seriously impaired the credit of China in the world's money markets. On March 2nd, Mr. Chou Tzu-chi, on behalf of the President, wrote to the four Banks, asking them to advance to China the sum of 1,015,000 taels wherewith to pay the Chinese Legations and Consulates abroad, and provide half a month's pay for the Manchurian Chinese troops. Mr. Chou Tzu-chi stated that in the present disturbed condition of affairs the President fully understood that they would require to consult with their respective Ministers before making the advance, and he asked them to do this as quickly as possible.

On March 6th a favourable reply was sent to the President. On that day an exchange of Notes took place between the Four Banks and the President. In the communication from the Banks it was stated that "it is understood and agreed that the Banks shall have a firm option to provide the further monthly requirements of the Chinese Government for the months of March, April, May, June, and possibly July and August, and that in consideration of the assistance thus rendered to China in the present emergency and of their services in supporting her credit in foreign markets, the Chinese Government is to assure to the Banks the firm option of providing the larger loan of £20,000,000 previously proposed to them, provided their terms are equally advantageous to those otherwise obtainable." In his reply the President said in writing:—"I hereby confirm the arrangements and conditions above stated, and request you to proceed immediately in accordance therewith." On March 9th, then, the bankers paid over to the Chinese Government the equivalent of 1,015,000 taels, as requested by the Acting Minister of Finance on March 2nd.

THE ANGLO-BELGIAN LOAN CONTRACT.

Further advances were asked for, and authority was given by their principals in Europe to the Banks to make these advances, including the payment of 1,000,000 taels immediately to Wuchang. Notice of such authorization was given to Mr. Tang Shao-yi on March 14th. On this very day, March 14th, and this is the reason of the protest of the Banks, Mr. Tang Shao-yi, without disclosing anything of the negotiations to the Four Banks, signed a contract with the Anglo-Belgian Syndicate for a loan of £1,000,000 as an advance upon a much larger loan to be negotiated later. The Four Banks considered this action to be a violation of the letter and spirit of the engagement entered into with them by the President on March 9th, whereby they had been given the firm option to finance the further requirements of the Government up to and including August, that good faith to the bankers required that when they were solicited to advance large sums of money, which they subsequently did advance to the Chinese Government, they should have been fully informed as to all other contracts for the borrowing of other large sums of money from other banks or persons whereby the debt of the Government would be increased and the value of the securities of the Government in the markets of the world materially depreciated; and that the suppression of such a material fact as the negotiations with the Anglo-Belgian group was a grave injustice calculated to destroy confidence and to justify the Four Banks in demanding the immediate return of the moneys which they had previously advanced.

I understand that the English and French Ministers will submit a further protest against the Anglo-Belgian Loan, on the ground that the terms of its security infringe the terms of Article 5 of the Anglo-French Peking-Hankow £5,000,000 Railway Redemption Loan of October 8th, 1909.

The statement published by the P. & O. Company this morning (says the Pail Mall Gazette of the 10th inst.) conveys incidentally a salutary warning to those who are now discussing Lascars sailors in terms of contemptuous abuse. It will be well if the public is slow to pass sweeping condemnation on the basis of a single recent occurrence. All men praise the splendid Native Army of India, and British troops are glad to be brigaded with crack native regiments. The genuine Lascars of Western India are hereditary sailors, just as Rajputs and Sikhs are hereditary soldiers. They are born to the sea. They manned the fine Indian Navy, which was most unwisely abolished in the fifties, and its chronicles are full of examples of their valour and fearlessness. Whatever may have happened of late, it is quite certain that these men, as a class, have not deteriorated. Are we to ask India to help us to fight our battles, and yet call its sailors cowards afloat? That was not the spirit of the King's advice to this country on his return in February. Let us be chary in denunciation until the facts are more clearly known.

THE LASCAR SEAMAN.

In the House of Commons on the 9th inst., Sir J. D. Ross asked the President of the Board of Trade whether there was any guarantee that lascars engaged on British ships really belonged to Asiatic marine seafaring races, castes, and tribes, and did not include coolies, ex-sepoys, and others unaccustomed to the sea; whether such recruitment was under any supervision on the part of the Government of India; and, if not, whether, in order to ensure, as far as may be, the safety of passengers on British ships any supervision was contemplated.

Mr. Buxton—The engagement in India of lascars as seamen on board British ships is allowed by section 125 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894. I am informed by the India Office that such seamen sign an agreement in a form sanctioned by the India Government. The men are recruited in India through the agency of persons licensed by the Indian Government; and the engagement takes place under the supervision of an officer appointed under the Indian Merchant Shipping Act. I am not aware that there is any guarantee of the nature indicated by the hon. member, but a large proportion of lascars are hereditary sailors.

THE SILVER MARKET.

The following extracts are taken from Messrs. Samuel Montagu & Co.'s bullion circular of May 9th:—
The undertone of the Silver Market continues good. The inquiry has been mainly on account of Indian speculators. In London also a certain amount of speculative buying is manifested at any considerable set-back, and subsequent profit taking has hitherto checked quotations from advancing much beyond 88d.

We learn, unofficially, the following three items of news:—The silver production of the Cobalt district in Canada for 1911 shows an increased value of about 6 per cent. over that for 1910, but that it is very improbable that a higher level of prices could lead to any material increase in the output.
The production in Mexico for last year was four million ounces less than that of 1910; this is not surprising when the civil war and incidental unrest is remembered.

The world's production for the last four years is as follows:—1908, 203,186,370oz.; 1909, 211,215,633oz.; 1910, 222,879,363oz.; 1911, 223,706,117oz.

LOSS OF WEIGHT IN MALARIA.

HOW DOCTORS ARE WORKING TO RESTORE IT.

The loss of body weight is one of the most noticeable of the direct consequences of Malaria. Obviously, therefore, it is one of those most distressing to the patient as well as to his friends, for it interferes in a marked manner with his appearance. From every point of view it is of the greatest importance that the weight which has been lost should be restored with the utmost rapidity. This is, necessarily, under ordinary conditions, a difficult thing to do, for the causes which have reduced the patient's digestive strength have likewise reduced his digestive powers, and weight can be acquired only through the digestive system.

This diagram shows the extraordinary way in which Sanatogen enables those who have lost weight to recover it.

The smaller figure represents the average increase in weight made by eight patients who were fed at a hospital on the most restorative and weight-producing foods known to the authorities.

The larger figure represents the average increase in weight of the patients treated with the same food to which Sanatogen had been added. It will be noticed that their weight increased about five times as much in the same time.

Happily, as every doctor knows, when the acute stage of the fever is over, a ready means of restoring this weight is at hand by the use of Sanatogen. It does not matter whether the sufferer is an adult or a child, the effect of Sanatogen in such conditions is invariably so rapid that it seems to act like a charm. This is due to its composition—the body-building part of pure cow's milk chemically combined with that salt of phosphorus which is found in the brain and nervous system. The use of Sanatogen tones and revitalises every organ of the body and, as it were, makes the feeble, flickering flame of life burn vigorously and strongly, so that the feeling of weakness which is so marked a characteristic of the sufferer from malaria rapidly vanishes. Sanatogen's power of increasing weight is strikingly shown in a case quoted by The General Practitioner: "A woman 5 ft. 7 in. height had dwindled to 7 st. 11 lbs. She was ordered two teaspoonfuls of Sanatogen thrice daily. At the end of a week she had gained 1 lb. 3 ozs., and at the end of three weeks she had increased 7 lbs. in weight."

Write for a copy of a most interesting booklet "The Art of Living," by Dr. Andrew Wilson, which will be sent free to all mentioning this paper on application to A. WELING & CO., Kiukiang Road, Shanghai. Sanatogen can be obtained at all Chemists.

When "Only Middling"

Your health is very far from satisfactory. The slightest knowledge of pathological science is sufficient to inform you how precarious is the condition of the person who is "only middling." The power of disease-resistance is practically nil, and an ordinary atmospheric change or dietary irregularity may lay you up for weeks.

Take

care therefore that you possess nothing less than vigorous, robust health. Just as nothing succeeds like Success so there is no better guarantee of sustained health than never to let yourself run down. Consequently if you are not feeling up to the mark get yourself into tip-top condition at once, by taking a few doses of

DISASTROUS TIME AT LLOYD'S.

HEAVIEST FOUR MONTHS EVER KNOWN.

The losses of Lloyd's and the marine insurance companies this year, says the Post and Mail Gazette, are already the heaviest that have been known since the business of covering ships against loss or damage began in a Tower-street coffee-house nearly two centuries and a half ago. And, as several vessels are hopelessly overdue, it is feared that the liabilities of underwriters for the past four months will be still further increased. It is, indeed, estimated that at present they cannot be far short of £8,000,000.

During the first quarter of the year no fewer than 88 vessels, with a gross register of 500 tons and upwards, were totally lost, while in the same period the total and partial losses were 1,918, collisions being responsible for 677, strandings for 518, and weather damage for 498.

The total estimated loss occasioned by the more important casualties was:—
January £242,500
February 457,000
March 698,600

excluding, however, the sinking of the P. & O. liner Oceanic, whose hull was uninsured, except to the value of £400,000 and cargo insured for £100,000 have yet to be recovered. The Oceanic may be ultimately brought to land, but the salvage of the latter is impossible.

STRIKING LIST.
In order to show that the losses were not confined to any particular route, the following cases may be cited:—

Bayardo (s), of 3,471 tons gross, owned by Messrs. Thomas Wilson, Sons, & Co., Hull, wrecked in the Humber, valued with cargo at £ 87,000

Thistleroy (s), of 4,027 tons gross, owned by Messrs. Allan, Black & Co., Sunderland, wrecked at Cape Lookout, Carolina, insured for 100,000

Calderon (s), of 4,083 tons gross, owned by Messrs. Lunnport & Holt, Liverpool, collided with another vessel in the Mersey and became total wreck, valued at 65,000

Canole (s), of 3,492 tons gross, owned by Messrs. W. Thomas, Sons, & Co., Liverpool, abandoned on fire off Cape Henry, valued with cargo at 76,000

Foley (s), of 4,274 tons gross, owned by Messrs. Houlder, Middleton & Co., London, wrecked on Sir John Narborough Island, insured for 107,000

Zinnia (s), of 3,842 tons gross, owned by Messrs. I. Robinson & Sons, North Shields, destroyed by fire off Cape Comorin, valued at 37,000

Wendur (s), of 2,046 tons gross, owned by Messrs. A. Mackay & Co., Glasgow, wrecked off Land's End, insured for 33,000

This month (April) there have been several exceptionally serious casualties, but, naturally, everything of the kind has been eclipsed by the sinking of the White Star liner Titanic, while on her maiden voyage from Southampton to New York. The sacrifice of life involved in this deplorable calamity has, of course, eclipsed its financial side, but, nevertheless, the pecuniary loss has affected many interests.

THE "TITANIC."
So far as the marine insurance market is concerned, it is at present impossible to state definitely the amount of liability incurred. The hull of the ill-fated ship was insured for £750,000, or about half the cost, but there is only too good reason to believe that the general cargo and passengers' effects represent a value of £1,500,000. Nothing can be known, however, until all the declarations are made, and, in this connection, a good deal depends upon what may have been saved by those who were fortunate enough to get on board the Carpathia. For instance, three pearl necklaces were covered to the extent of £140,000, and although the owner escaped the fate of the majority it is not yet certain that she wore the jewellery at the time.

A direct result of the disaster has been a general stiffening of premiums, particularly on vessels of the liner class, but in many cases the increase will not take effect until current contracts expire. To the credit of underwriters it has, however, to be said that, notwithstanding the recent heavy calls upon their resources all the ascertainable claims are being promptly paid.

SHANGHAI ELECTRIC CONSTRUCTION COMPANY.

The report of the Shanghai Electric Construction Company for the year to December 31st states that the accounts show a profit of £14,139, as compared with £7,884 for 1910, and the total standing to the credit of profit and loss at the end of the year, including the balance brought forward, was £20,774. The sum of £7,473 has been written off general expenditure during construction, £10,000 has been transferred to reserve for renewals, and £3,301 carried forward. Substantial progress has again been made in the number of passengers carried, the traffic receipts per car mile, the gross earnings, and the net operating receipts. This improvement has been obtained by continuing the policy of popularizing the trams by means of more attractive short-distance fares. The percentage of loss by exchange on subsidiary coinage was on the average somewhat lower in 1911 than in 1910, but has recently shown a tendency to increase. The loss under this head for the year was £15,478, equivalent to over 42 per cent. on the capital of the company. It is added that the 30 trailers referred to in the last report were in use for a considerable portion of the year with satisfactory results. The capital expenditure for the year, amounting to £211,527, which was mainly in respect of the additional rolling stock and the wayside carshed required for its accommodation, has been met out of revenue.
